1. The Central Institute for Radio Technique (Funktechnik) which has been assigned the task of centralizing and taking over the entire research and development of the industries concerned with the production of telecommunications equipment, ^{1/} will have a department for testing all devices developed by industry during the period in which development has not been transferred at all or in part to the institute.
2. When Director of the Institute Dr. Gerhard (fnu) received instructions from the head of UV Funkwesen, Matzke (fnu), to establish a testing department in the institute, he was also informed that the transfer of development personnel and equipment from the industries concerned should be handled gradually so that no current development of importance would suffer from the transfer.

^{1/} Comment. The planned measure is only concerned with the development of equipment.
